

September 8, 2017 Chain of Lakes Update

Aquest has been surveying the lakes and will be out on Strawberry, Zukey, and Portage this weekend, please contact Doug Pullman, aquest@me.com if you have a concern regarding your lake.

We will be posting the management opinions from these visits along with others next week. We've also added the timeline of activities to date for 2017 and what is expected for the rest of 2017 and 2018 treatment season. We tried to narrow the windows when the activities take place, however the severity of the winter and other weather related factors may influence when these activities occur.

Aquest would like to hold a workshop to provide information on what his Lake Scan reporting means and how he determines the condition of your lake. We are hopefully scheduling this workshop in late October so stay tuned.

Lastly, we are meeting with the DEQ on Tuesday September 12, to discuss the conditions of the permits for the 2018 application season. I'll provide some detail of the discussion in next week's update.
